Cold open to Malak Garland hunched over a chair in a room all by himself. The buzzing from a nearby electrical panel is all that can be heard as he clasps his hands and slowly raises both his neck and head skyward. His face is full of hope, full of ambition.

Malak Garland:

Tonight, everything changes.

Rising from the seat gradually, Malak paces over to an open locker where many wrestling trunks divinely sit on hangers. Garland's eyes gently gander at the choices in front of him, although they are all quite similar in theme.

Malak Garland:

Tonight is a special night and, therefore, I must wear something equally as special. I have a plethora of custom trunks to pick from! Wow okay, lots to unpack here. Tonight, tOnIghT I aM gOiNg tO rEaLly tReAt mYsEIF! I deserve this! I deserve this moment, don't I? DON'T !!?

He passively leifs through the many blue snowflake themed sets of wrestling gear.

Malak Garland:

Hmmmm, this one says maximum on it. Too much. That puts way too much pressure on me. In fact, I find that word utterly offensive because it indicates the constant ability to work at full capacity and I simply cannot sustain such a demand for a long period of time. I will surely lose if I wear this. Back to the rack they go.

He continues down the line until he lays his eyes upon a wondrous pair of trunks. He plucks them from its hanging position and holds them in front of his face. The word 'DELECTABLE' is gracefully stitched in gold lettering across the crotch area of the trunks, predictably with the D starting right in the middle of the fabric and wrapping all the way around to where the middle of the buttocks would be on the back.

Malak Garland:

How delectable. How original too. The D starts right at the d. I don't know anyone that this could be more fitting for. I especially like them because they are not iterative whatsoever. I hate being iterative. Hate it. Absolutely hate it.

The Source of Envy rubs the fabric between his fingers, feeling every thread of goodness.

Malak Garland:

These trunks are one wear only for sure. Tonight, I win the FIST then these either get bronzed or framed forever! My keepsake!

The Sinister Minister brings the trunks to his cheek. He cuddles the fabric with love and hope.

Malak Garland:

Tonight, Deacon's reign of tyranny ends.

And so, night two kicks off.

♪ "Wide Awake" by Katy Perry ♪

The scene begins inside the Watsco Center in Miami as fireworks explode from the rampway. A massive DEFITron sits above the entrance, twice the size of the screen typically used for DEFTv. LCD lettering M-A-X-I-M-U-M stretches across the rampway, with the "I" being used for the entrance from Gorilla and is shaped in the form of a palm tree... but the palm tree is covered in snow. There are two palm trees flanking the edge of the stage on both sides with beach balls and towels scattered around them... but they are also covered in snow. An LCD rampway projects nothing but snow from the top of the stage to the edge of the ring apron. The top and bottom ring ropes are dark blue and the middle one is white. The canvas is clean and light blue as always but has advertisement stamps on the turnbuckle padding for local safe spaces and rage rooms.

In the back seat sit Elise Ares and The D waving Cuban and City of Miami flags for the Miami Faithful. The car comes to a stop and The D sticks the Miami flag in a holder on the side of the car before exiting. Elise Ares, on the other hand, stands on the back of the car waving her Cuban flag to a thunderous ovation before planting it into the holder on the other side of the vehicle and screaming something back into the Faithful that is completely muffled by the crowd noise. Her trademark LED sunglasses read "I'M" and "HOME" before she drops her normal purple and gold jacket on the back of the car to reveal a special red, white, and blue Cuban flag inspired ring gear.

Hector Navarro calls for the bell and immediately Ned Reform tags out to TA Cole for a thunderous chorus of jeers.

DING DING

Elise can't even get a word out before The D slaps her on the back and fires into the ring from the outside wanting a piece of TA Cole after his cowardly attack on him outside of the ring on the last episode of DEFtv! The Faithful explode as he tackles Cole and begins to rain down a series of punches immediately causing Navarro to call for a rope break. The Netflix A-Lister takes all five seconds before being pulled off of his opponent by Navarro. The D throws his arms up into the air, hyping up this electric crowd before firing back at the corner with D In Your Face! Cole stumbles out of the corner after the impact and The D whips him into the opposite corner. He goes to take off after him once more but he's jerked back by Ned Reform and falls hard to the canvas, causing another outbreak of boos.

DDK:

Well that didn't take long.

Lance:

You know Reform is going to be involved early and often here tonight, Darren. This one has become extremely personal and he's going to do anything it takes to walk out of Miami looking like a winner.

Navarro turns around to warn Reform, who puts his arms into the air in innocence as TA Cole leaves the opposite corner to capitalize on the situation before Elise Ares uses the ropes to leap up and strike him in the back of the head with a kick, also sending him down hard to the canvas. The Faithful erupt as Ned Reform screams at Navarro to pay better attention, who then turns to find both competitors on the ground getting back up to their feet.

The D snapmares him over to gain a rear headlock into a side before Cole lifts him up and plants him with a back suplex. However, before he can maintain advantage The D grabs him with a headscissor and pulls him down by his arm, applying an armlock before Cole somersaults out and tries to arm drag The D who instead lands on his feet. The Faithful applaud the superb technical exchange.

DDK:

I think people often forget how technically sound The D is behind all of his... how do I put this nicely... sophomoric humor and dim demeanor?

TA Cole adjusts his headgear while the man who's birth certificate reads Derek Edwards fixes his wrist tape and they lock back up once again. Immediately The D drops Cole to the mat with a drop toe hold. Before The D can mount his opponent, Levi begins to move forward forcing The D to grab onto his ankle to keep him from getting away. Cole gets up on his hands and somersaults forward reversing the situation and locking The D in a kneebar that gets a small golf clap from Ned Reform on the apron. Before it gets fully locked in, The D manages to kick Cole in the face and break free of the lock. Trying to remain on offense, Cole stays aggressive and doesn't let The D escape, grabbing another kick attempt before being flipped ass over tea kettle with a monkey flip! However, Cole lands on his feet in a crouching position nullifying much of the impact as the PCP trainer gets back up to his own feet. He goes for an arm wrench that

The Good Doctor shoves The D to the canvas and slaps Elise's hand away before dragging The D over to the ropes and hanging him neck first over the middle rope before dropping the knee across the back of his head. Again Navarro begins a count and again Reform doesn't care as he strangles The D under his knee. A sadistic smirk grows wider and wider as the count increases before he finally releases him. The PCPer gasps for air before he's grabbed by the back of the hair, Reform waves goodbye to Elise Ares, and drags The D back to his own corner and tags TA Cole back into the match. Cole steps into the ring as Reform puts D into position for a back suplex. Cole comes up behind him and they drop The D into a suplex/neckbreaker combo. Quickly Reform runs over and knocks Elise Ares off the apron, getting a huge boo from the Floridians as he begins to exit the ring.

DDK:

The Good Doctor shoots Nevarro a smirk as both Honor Society members exit the ring to continue working over Elise from the ringside floor. She's able to catch Cole with a few surprise right hands and this brings the crowd to life - but that is only momentary as both Ned Reform and TA Cole are able to grab ahold of Ares and double whip her brutally into the steel guardrail! Elise screams out in pain, holding her back and collapsing to the ringside floor.

While Cole continues to stomp away, Reform is right in the face of a young girl in a Elise Ares t-shirt sitting in the front row. The girl is giving him hell while Reform simply leans down to smirk and point to his own big brain. Reform grabs Elise by the hair, roughly pulling her to her feet and now shoving Ares' pained face right in front of the little girl. The little girl looks ready to cry... but the tears of a fan seems to be enough to will Elise Ares back into things, as she suddenly grabs Reform by the head and drives him forehead first into the barricade! The crowd POPS as TA Cole tries to move in to intercept... but he's blindsided out of nowhere by a tackle from The D!! The D has Cole down and he begins raining down a flurry! Meanwhile, Elise Ares grabs the now dazed Reform and holds his shiny bald head out toward her young fan... who is able to nail Ned with a very tiny SLAP! And now we have total mayhem on the outside! Hector Navarro has lost control!

Inside the ring, the official pleads with the competitors to re-enter the ring but they pay him no mind. TA Cole has gotten to his feet and he and The D trade shots as they brawl all around the ring. Meanwhile, Elise Ares measures Ned Reform before leaping on top of the guardrail, running across, and flying off and catching the Good Doctor with a hurricanrana! Reform hits the ground and cries out in pain and when Elise follows up, he throws his hands up and begins to beg off. With The Good Doctor crying for mercy, Elise turns to her hometown Faithful and points down at him, seeming to ask whether or not she should grant his request. They let her know, in no uncertain terms, that Reform deserves nothing, so she grabs him and rolls him under the bottom rope and back into the ring!

DDK:

This raucous Miami crowd is eager for Ned Reform's head!

Reform again tries to beg for mercy, but Elise peppers him with kicks that cause him to stumble back into the corner. Cole releases the chair on impact, and Elise is quick to pick up the chair herself. With a devilish smile and a roar of approval from the crowd, Elise puts the chair in prime swinging position as she eyes Ned Reform - who is climbing back to a vertical base. At the same time, Hector Navarro is beginning to clear the cobwebs. Reform reaches his feet, and Elise goes for a swing...

Elise falls to the mat, holding her head and pretending to be in pain from Reform's "chair shot." Ned looks down at the weapon in his hand, down at Elise on the mat, and his eyes go wide as he realizes that he's being set up. He sees that Navarro is almost to his feet but he hasn't caught wind of this yet... and he also sees that The D has entered the ring, ready to fight! Thinking quickly, Reform mimics exactly what Elise did - after a bang of the chair into the mat, he throws it at The D, who catches it in surprise. Now it's Reform's turn to hit the canvas, holding his head and moaning in pretend agony. It doesn't take the D long to realize that now HE'S the mark - so he throws it to TA Cole and ALSO takes a dive!! Cole looks down at the chair... looks at Reform... looks at The D... looks at Ares... and shakes his head in utter confusion.

DDK:

Poor Levi.

Of course, it's now that Hector Navarro is upright and turns around to see Levi Cole, standing dumbfounded while holding the steel chair, and all three other competitors on the ground writhing in pain around him. It FINALLY dawns on Cole what's happening here and he throws the chair aside and begins to shake his head and protest his innocence. Navarro gets in his face, and while the ref and Cole get into an argument - the other three wrestlers spring into action! TERESA AMES vs. TITANESS

DDK:

Welcome to our next match on tonight's amazing card for Maximum DEFIANCE! Up next, we have one with rather... unique... circumstances. The first-ever Love Me or Leave Me Match that will see Teresa Ames look to make Titaness hers at long last... if she can win this match!

Lance:

That's right! In the fallout of the apparent engagement being called off of Uriel Cortez and Titaness, the latter tried her luck with a wrestler-themed dating app... and ended up getting catfished by Teresa Ames. Out of that, Teresa has been obsessed with making Titaness her significant other and has launched attacks on her through The Game Boy and of her own, most recently on DEFtv 172 with a tire iron to the rib cage!

DDK:

Titaness has been cleared for tonight's match at the insistence of our medical staff. But it must be noted she's not at a hundred percent. Teresa has defeated people in singles matches like Gage Blackwood and others and in her state of mind... you cannot look past what she's willing to do to get whatever... or whoever... She wants.

Lance:

Not at all. Titaness may have the power, but going into a match with an injury can decrease your chances at winning. Teresa Ames' never ending quest for attention-seeking may go her way tonight if she wins tonight's match! Let's go to Darren Quimbey for the intros!

DDK:

OH, MY GOD! JACK MACE JUST RAN RIGHT THROUGH ALVARO ON THE FLOOR WITH A LARIAT!

The crowd ROARS when The Killer Bear finally has his fill of ADV's pomp and circumstance. He rips the Lakers jersey off Alvaro's back and starts choking him with it before the match has officially started!

Lance:

Mace doesn't give a damn about local sports teams and any of that. He's here to FIGHT!

He continues to strangle ADV around ringside before throwing him inside the ring. Once he's tossed inside, Mace grabs Darren Quimbey's microphone.

Jack Mace:

RRRRRRRRRRRAHHHHHHHHHHH!

Mace throws the microphone away. He takes the Lakers jersey and just for an extra reaction, stomps it on the ground and wipes his feet on it before he rolls into the ring...

DING DING DING!

Then the action starts!

With a surprise eye poke from Alvaro!

DDK:

Remember the rules! He can do that as many times as he wants, no questions asked!

Alvaro continues to assault Mace by throwing a wild headbutt and then backs him into the corner. He holds his boot up to the throat of Mace and then continues to press it on him, knowing he can choke him!

DDK:

It's getting vicious in a real hurry! These men fought once before and it was Jack Mace getting a victory by disqualification when Alvaro choked him out with his chain and busted Mace's forehead open with it, requiring fourteen stitches!

Lance:

And Mace hasn't forgotten that. He wants Alvaro and wants to finally put Better Future Talent Agency behind him for good.

Mace continues to get stomped away by Alvaro in the corner and he's free to wail on him as long as he likes, given there are no rope breaks! He continues to wail away on DEFIANCE's Wild Man with stomping and then presses a knee against his face and throat.

Alvaro de Vargas:

Where you belong, pendejo! At my feet!

After beating the brakes off of his former BFTA stablemate, Alvaro waits as he starts to stand in the corner, then charges full speed ahead, clobbering him with a big corner clothesline!

DDK:

Oof! Alvaro rattles him with that charging clothesline in the corner! And we know where he hits one of those, there's going to be three!

ADV creates some distance by running cross-corner, then comes right back to hit Mace with a second charging clothesline! Mace convulses after the shot and hunches over. Alvaro then grits his teeth and delivers a stiff right hand to make sure that he stays there. He shakes his hand after the shot, then runs again... then his charging corner clothesline number three!

Lance:

And that completes the trifecta... but ADV not going for a cover?

DDK:

Nope. Appears not.

He instead is milking the angry Miami fans for earlier. He taps his ear and tells them to bring it.

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!

Alvaro looks like he's having the time of his life as Jack Mace is still hurt. He turns his attention back to Mace and then grabs an arm to set up a short-arm clothesline.

Problem?

Mace ducks, then goes right into a go-behind... RELEASE GERMAN SUPLEX!

Alvaro de Vargas gets stunned from the first suplex and then tries to stand in a fog, but gets taken down with a second Release German suplex! He bounces off the canvas to a loud cheer from the crowd while Mace gets up and then tries to fight back.

DDK:

That early opening by Alvaro de Vargas must have woken something up in him!

Alvaro gets back up from the second suplex and tries to fight when he feels Jack's arms wrapped around his waist. Mace eats a back elbow from ADV, but doesn't let go. Then he eats a second one... but keeps on holding... then throws him over anyway with a third release German suplex! He goes skittering across the canvas like a flat rock across the water!

Lance:

He continues to try and claw his way to the ropes... but almost hoisted by his own petard, there's no rope break! He panics further and then pulls himself through the ropes...

BUT MACE STILL HOLDS ON!

Lance:

These two want to end this quickly! Remember, no more singles matches to be made between the two of them so wherever loses this... that's that!

DDK:

But ADV might have saved himself just a little! The submission has to happen in the ring!

ADV is STILL trapped, but he's able to shove Mace back into the barricade! But Mace STILL manages to hold on! He turns him around again and then drives him spine-first into the ring post...

Lance:

NO! Mace STILL hanging on! This is unreal!

DDK:

He wants payback so bad for what Alvaro and BFTA have put him through in the last several months! Beatdowns, verbal assaults, personal assaults! There's a reason both sides agreed to this tonight!

ADV has no other choice and is fading fast... so with the last of his strength, ADV manages to pick Mace up and then RAM him back-first into the ring post to finally get him to let go of the Jack of All Holds! Mace lets out a yelp and then collapses to the floor while ADV does the same, trying to catch his breath.

DDK:

He finally does it! He breaks the hold, but how much did that arm triangle choke take out of El Sol Dorado?

Lance:

The Killer Bear limps around ringside after having been tossed into the ring apron, the barricade and finally the ring post. He uses the post to keep himself up while ADV is still sucking in wind. The replay catches what just happened from several angles.

The proper angle with Alvaro de Vargas spearing into Mace hard enough for both men to go crashing through it.

The partition exploding into pieces as both men go through it.

And of course, tried and true slow motion.

Back to the world of real time and both big men are still fighting through ringside.

DDK:

This fight has been moving at a hundred miles per hour! No holding back in this one!

ADV quickly gets up first from the mess and grabs two handfuls of Mace's matted hair before dragging him up into a knee lift to the chest. He gets him back into the ring as quick as possible and then goes for a cover.

Jonny has two fingers up. ADV ignores the diminutive official and goes back to striking Mace across the back. He sets him up for a piledriver... the crowd starts to react loud and jeer when he has the piledriver up, but before he can use it, Mace breaks free by picking him up and snapping him over with a back body drop!

The Killer Bear decides once again to go back to the well by going for broke and trying another suplex when Alvaro breaks his grip... by BITING him on the forehead! Mace yells out in pain again as ADV continues to bite down until he stops. He leads him up by the arm and then buries another knee and then another shot to the back. He tries to hook Jack up for a belly-to-back suplex, but Mace grounds himself and holds onto the waist of Alvaro. The Cocky Cuban drops elbows into his head and despite Mace's best efforts, he gets picked up and dumped down hard with a belly-to-back suplex!

Despite all that work to get the suplex, he isn't done. He runs off the ropes and then comes back, dropping a double foot stomp right into the chest of Mace! The Burly Brit is left grunting and holding onto his chest when Alvaro moves over, kicks him onto his back and makes the cover!

DDK:

Uh-oh... Abajo Vas is up next! If he hits this, he could easily lead right to Ardiendo or the Garra del Tigre!

Lance:

And if he hits either one of those, he's not kicking out!

He leans back in the corner as the Miami Faithful continue to jeer ADV, though small pockets of cheers still permeate the noise for the hometown guy. De Vargas doesn't care who cheers or boos him right now, his sole attention lies on Mace and his ability to stand so he can nail him with the running knee lift to the chest called Abajo Vas. He fully sheds the kneepad and then gets ready for a run! But before he is able to, Mace shoots his arm up in mid-run...

MACE WITH A LOW BLOW!

DDK:

What a counter to the Abajo Vas! But modified No Holds Barred rules as we've pointed out! Both men agreed to a fight where they could beat each other down with their bare hands to end this!

DDK:

WOW! Mace lately hasn't been the kind of person to need a shortcut since being kicked out of BFTA, but "do unto others" is the name of the game tonight!

Lance:

He did it to save himself and I mean - come on - Alvaro.

While Mace is on one side of the ring trying to get up with the aid of the ropes, de Vargas is hunched over another corner and can barely stand. El Sol Dorado starts to try and stand up but when he is able to get vertical... he gets taken back down flat on his back, courtesy of another Release German Suplex!

DDK:

Oooh! Alvaro gets dumped again with another Release German! He's back in the game!

Mace slowly limps up again and favors his own midsection, but he yells out a guttural roar and the Miami Faithful respond in cheers! He picks up Alvaro again as he tries to ground himself... but he takes Release German suplex number five in this match!

Lance:

I'm counting five Release German suplexes right now! Mace using what he calls "Killer Bear" style which is just him picking you up and putting you down where he wants to!

He holds out his hands to tell the crowd one more time and they want it, so The Killer Bear gives it to him... Release German Suplex number six! Alvaro has taken two sets of three German suplexes in this match and is left bouncing around.

DDK:

With those two, I honestly couldn't tell you. As we get back to the action, Rezin now looks a bit more careful in his approach! Kerry Kuroyama has stone-walled him to this point, but one false step and the Pacific Blitzkrieg will effortlessly turn him inside out!

Rezin steps lightly and does some odd, distracting handwork as the two resume encircling each other. Kuroyama moves in for another tie-up, but barely gets his hands up in time to catch a boot shooting for his midsection. Rezin quickly gets spun around, bound into a waistlock.

DDK:

Kerry moves behind off the blocked kick... GERMAN SUPLEX -- NO!!

The Escape Artist deftly lands on his feet! Momentum continues as he bounces off the ropes and keeps running. Kerry waits with a Back Body Drop -- but again, Rezin lands on his feet and keeps moving!

The Goat Bastard moves out of control yet again, chest hitting the ropes and sending him running backwards into Kuroyama. Kerry dips down and flips him over through the air with a Back Suplex...

DDK:

Rezin lands on his feet AGAIN! Incredible athleticism!

Lance:

Kuroyama is not getting anything sending the Escape Artist through the air, and it's beginning to frustrate him!

DDK:

The slippery devil Rezin hits the ropes again, but this time Kerry is waiting... NO! Rezin baseball slides through his legs! He pops back up to his feet... CLOVEN HOOF KICK--JUST barely misses!

Kerry jukes out of the way and barely misses Rezin's heel as it swings by his face. He immediately seizes on his opportunity while his opponent is off balance, trapping the leg and grabbing him around the waist. Before Rezin can react, he is flung violently with an Exploder Suplex that leaves him ragdolling across the mat!

DDK:

After a series of reversals, Rezin went for a killshot out of nowhere, but instead gifted Kerry with the suplex he had been looking for!

Lance:

Kuroyama somehow kept his head through all that.

Rezin, shaken up, steadily pulls himself up with the ropes, but Kuroyama runs in with a forearm to the back of the head to dash any ideas about making a tag. He instead leads the Goat Bastard to the opposite side of the ring to make a tag of his own to Lindsay Troy, getting a decidedly mixed reaction from the Miami Faithful.

Kerry hooks Rezin by the arms from behind, leaving him completely exposed. Rezin comes-to just in time to look up and see the Queen of the Ring gracefully descending upon him through the air. Both of her feet bury themselves into his face, right as Kuroyama lifts him up from behind!

DDK:

SPRINGBOARD DROPKICK by Lindsay Troy off the tag, right into a TIGER SUPLEX by Kuroyama! Wonderful tandem maneuver!

Lance:

I guess that answers what kind of chemistry these two would have teaming together. But I can speculate that they've had plenty of time to prepare for this.

DDK:

Waiting until tonight to unveil the newest member of Vae Victis has definitely worked to their advantage. The Queen of the Ring has Rezin at her mercy now, and she immediately goes for the pinfall!

ONE!

TWO!

KICKOUT!

Rezin slips out the back door and attempts to get to his corner for the tag, but Troy snags him by the skulllet before he can get there and yanks him into an inverted facelock. A quick twist and drop later, and the Goat Bastard is clutching his jaw and dropping onto his back after the Rolling Stunner!

The Queen of the Ring has rule over the ring as she takes a moment to pass by the opposing corner and exchange some words with the Lunatic standing on the apron. Her face is one of full cockiness. She measures the distance, breaks into a run, and NAILS Rezin with a low dropkick as he fumbles around on the mat that knocks him through the ropes to the outside!

DDK:

There goes Rezin to the outside, as the Escape Artist can't escape this beating at the hands of Vae Victis!

Lance:

He fearlessly answer their challenge, but he may not be realizing that he bit off more than he can chew. Lindsay Troy is undisputedly one of the greatest talents in DEFIANCE, and Kerry Kuroyama's surprise entry into this match has only made this situation worse for the Goat Bastard.

LT, standing tall in the center of the ring, outstretches her arms and slowly does a circle, giving the Miami Faithful an opportunity to cheer or boo her to their hearts' desire. Meanwhile, official Brian Slater begins a mandatory ten count on Rezin, but doesn't get too far into it when Kerry comes off the apron.

DDK:

Rezin is struggling to get up on the outside... but here comes Kuroyama, pulling him the rest of the way up and PRESSING HIM off the floor! And through the ropes and back INTO the ring goes Rezin!

Lance:

Offering his teammate a bit of a helping hand, rather than Troy having to leave the ring herself. I don't think the Queen of the Ring is daring enough to allow Jack Harmen to leave her periphery for too long.

DDK:

Good point...

Rezin scrambles to his feet as Troy advances on him, JUST BARELY ducking a high roundhouse aimed for his head, and catches the former FIST off guard with a middle hook kick that catches her in the ribs! Troy clutches her side, and the crowd pops when Rezin suddenly has an opening.

Rezin takes the head and flips her over with a Snapmare, but Troy BRIDGES instead of hitting the canvas! LT twists and reverses, looking to transition into a standing Cobra Clutch, but the Escape Artist slips free from her grip and counters with a jumping Reverse STO!

RRRAAAAAAAAAHHH!!!

DDK: Rezin puts Troy to the MAT with the S-T-O to counter, and he dives to make the much-needed tag to Jack Harmen!

The crowd pops LOUD as Lindsay Troy rallies herself on the mat and sees Jack Harmen hopping the top rope to enter. The longtime rivals wear matching grins as they stare each other down.

Lance:

Just like old times with these two.

DDK:

There is no love lost between Lindsay Troy and Jack Harmen, whose battles have gone back years through various federations! And now, inexplicably, they find themselves face to face once more!

Troy and Harmen tie up. Troy comes out on top with a tight armbar. Jack slaps his shoulder and flips out of it, reversing the torsion back into LT's arm. Troy counters with a sweep that puts Harmen on his back, but misses on a leg drop when the Lunatic sits up!

Jack Harmen jumps HIGH and comes down with a spiking double stomp that hits only canvas, as Troy rolls out of the way! LT kips up and instinctively ducks LOW as Harmen comes at her with a roundhouse kick! Troy sweeps again, but Jack spryly avoids it with a standing FLIP and pounces back with a hurricanrana!

But Troy BLOCKS herself from flipping over, leaving Harmen dropping onto his shoulders! Thinking quick, Jack twists himself into a headscissor takedown, which Troy gracefully CARTWHEELS her way out of! The two pause in the action to stare each other down while the Miami Faithful cheer wildly at the exchange!

Lance:

I could watch this ALL NIGHT, Keeps! These two only get better with years!

DDK:

These two know each other inside and out in that ring! It all comes down to who blinks first!

Egged on by the crowd, the two rivals begin circling each other again. They go into motion for another lock up--but the Queen swerves everyone by turning into an inside chop that hits Harmen point blank in the chest! Harmen backpedals off the impact, and Troy keeps him going by pushing him off the ropes!

The former High Flyer leapfrogs a back body drop attempt off the rebound and springboards off the opposite end with a MOONSAULT--which Troy keenly avoids by taking a big step back! Harmen is off balance when he lands on his feet, giving LT an opening to put him into a full nelson.

DDK:

Moonsault misses the mark, and now Lindsay Troy goes for a DRAGON SUPLEX--NO!! Harmen blocks it with a LEG-SCISSOR around the hips... and REVERSES INTO A WHEELBARROW VICTORY ROLL!!

ONE!

TWO!

NO!! Lindsay Troy breaks free, but Harmen summons reinforcements, making the tag back to the Goat Bastard!

Troy quickly rolls to her feet as Rezin hops the ropes, standing alongside his partner. Rezin and Harmen come at her with kicks from either side. LT deftly catches them by the legs... but in doing so, leaves herself completely defenseless...

DDK:

DOUBLE-ENZIGURI!! Lindsay Troy's bell was just RUNG after that tandem maneuver!

Troy drops to her knees first before falling flat on her face!

Lance:

Astonishingly, they were somehow thinking the same thing!

DDK:

Well, a broken clock is right twice a day...

Harmen and Rezin congratulate each other with a high five, before the Lunatic heads to the apron. The Goat Bastard grins mischievously, seeing Lindsay Troy completely at his mercy!

The "Ace" is gradually coming to her senses as Rezin stalks her from behind, grinning like a devil and taking a special kind of delight in stalking the Queen of the Ring. He pounces from behind... but a BACK ELBOW from Troy leaves him reeling! Troy capitalizes with an inverted facelock, and lifts Rezin into a Reverse Suplex--

DDK:

REZIN LANDS ON HIS FEET, AND COUNTERS WITH A BLACK THUNDER BOMB!! HE HOOKS THE LEG!

ONE!

TWO!

KICKOUT!

Lance:

Rezin's got to be feeling confident right now. Can these two really pull it off tonight?

Rezin pounces on Troy, locking up the arms and looking for a VERTEBREAKER... but instead, Troy unexpectedly snaps back to life, twists out of it, and BURIES his face into the canvas with an inverted double-underhook facebuster!

DDK:

OH!! Down goes Rezin, as Lindsay Troy literally and figuratively turns the tables! And now she makes the cover!

ONE!

TWO!

SHOULDER UP!

Troy keeps at it, pulling Rezin off the mat and sending him running to the corner with a whip. She runs in after him, but doesn't expect the sudden HEADSTAND the Escape Artist performs on the top turnbuckle, and her shoulder takes an unforeseen bump! As she stumbles off the impact, Rezin resets himself on the top rope...

DDK:

Rezin is GOING UP... and there's the REZINRANA OFF THE TOP ROPE!

Lindsay Troy is sent head over heels... until she sticks the landing! The capacity crowd GASPS as thousands of minds simultaneously explode!

DDK:

WHOA!

The Goat Bastard is too busy patting himself on the back over his aerial feat, unaware that Troy is staring daggers into his back. On the apron, Harmen gets his attention and gestures to check his six. Rezin's joy melts into a dismal expression of absolute dread. Slowly, he turns himself around to face the music...

A vicious HAYMAKER to the noggin from the Queen of the Ring rocks Rezin into the corner! He staggers off the turnbuckles and runs straight into her waiting arms, as she locks up his head and hooks his leg.

DDK:

FISHERMAN BRAINBUSTER!! Rezin was just SPIKED into the canvas!

Rezin takes an UNGODLY bounce off the top of his head... and amazingly, miraculously lands on his feet as well!

DDK:

...WHAT?!

Rezin is seemingly unphased from having his head drilled straight into the mat, and manages a few steps... then his legs give way, and he's hobbling away on his knees. A second later, the delayed reaction fully kicks in as his torso falls into the ropes and convulses in agony, eyes rolling back into his head.

DDK:

Rezin's BRAINS must've been sent straight to his feet! The Queen of the Ring drags him clear from the ropes, and here's the cover!

ONE!

TWO!

NO! Troy rises up to her feet the moment she spies Jack Harmen looking to step through the ropes and break it up!

Troy taunts the Lunatic into pressing his luck, but Jack decides against it at the last minute, as though he knows there will be plenty of opportunities to get crazy later on. The former FIST redirects her attention back to her new favorite punching bag, peeling Rezin off the mat and sending him running to the corner off an Irish whip!

Rezin's face bumps off the top turnbuckle, seemingly knocking him sober with a shake of his head, BARELY dodging a flying double knee strike coming his way from LT!

DDK:

Queen's Gambit JUST MISSES the mark! Rezin is NOT READY to be put away without a fight!

Rezin lands a HARD swift kick to the trunk of the Queen of the Ring, nearly doubling her over! Troy's face turns red with rage before straightening up and responding with a HEAVY kick to the chest of her own, sending the Goat Bastard reeling back and unleashing a raspy, agonized groan!

And like a madman, he comes back for more...

Rezin kicks!

RAAAHHH!

Troy kicks HARDER!

RAAAHHH!

Rezin kicks HARDEST!

RAAAHHH!

LT kicks HARD-FINITE!!

RAAAHHH!

The two of them are stumbling on rubber legs at this point, clutching their lungs and struggling to breathe...

DDK:

It's like titans trying to topple one another, but neither one is giving the other an inch!

Lance:

Nowhere to go from here, but all in.

LT pivots herself and comes back with a Spinning Heel Kick... but in the same instant, Rezin unleashes a Cloven Hoof Kick of his own! The sound of heels smacking into jaws rings LOUD throughout the arena, and the Faithful GASP!

DDK:

GOOD GOD, NO! DOUBLE SPINNING HEEL KICKS, and both competitors have TAKEN EACH OTHER OUT!!

Rezin and Troy simultaneous CRUMBLE into heaps

The crowd is doing its best to blow the roof off of the Watsco Center. Slater has begun the count to ten as Rezin and Troy slowly come to their senses on the mat and begin the race to their respective corners. Troy, eyes fluttering, focuses on Kuroyama's arms stretched over the top rope. She digs deep to drag herself inch by inch across the canvas...

On the other side of the ring, Harmen is gaining ridiculous hangtime bouncing off the ropes, excitably trying to wake up the crowd and rally behind the Goat Bastard! Rezin is still out like a light, face down and ass up on the mat.

Troy is gathering her senses and pushing herself back up to her knees. She sprawls the last couple feet to tag in Kuroyama, who hits the ring like a house of fire! He makes a beeline for the crumpled body of Rezin...

Until the Goat Bastard suddenly snaps to life, springing across the ring in a single bound and slapping the SHIT out of Jack Harmen's hand! The Miami Faithful POP LOUD!

RRRAAAAAHHH!!

DDK:

TAG MADE... and Jack Harmen comes into the ring with the SPRINGBOARD THESZ PRESS to put Kuroyama on his back! And now the Lunatic is WAILING AWAY on the face of the newest member to Vae Victis!

Lance:

Kerry and LT seemed to have things under their control for a while, but these two upstarts are not to be taken lightly. Harmen and Rezin have proven many times in their individual exploits that they can shift the momentum of a match in a heartbeat.

After a flurry of shots, Harmen pops to his feet and fires up the Miami Faithful, who are nothing short of thunderous after the hot tag! Then he backs up into the corner and patiently waits for Kerry to shake out the cobwebs and push himself to his feet...

Troy is calling Kerry to attention, but he can't seem to hear her as he slowly turns around. Harmen comes running like a bolt of lightning...

DDK:

LOCOMOTION--NO!!

Lance:

Missed by a HAIR!

Kuroyama sidesteps the running Yakuza Kick at the last second and takes Harmen to the mat with a quick leg tackle! Before Harmen can react, Kerry sets him into the pumphandle hold and lifts him up...

DDK:

Kerry with the reversal, and now he has Jack Harmen up on his shoulder... going for the KUROYAMA DRIVER--but REZIN REACHES OVER THE ROPES and YANKS Harmen back down the mat before the Emerald Flowsion could be completed!

Lance:

Quick thinking by the Escape Artist, giving his partner the assist. He is all but too familiar with the wrath of the dreaded Kuroyama Driver.

Kerry twirls around with a lariat, but the cagey veteran smoothly DUCKS and bites back with a kick to the midsection! Kuroyama is in perfect position for Harmen to hook both arms, dig in his heels, and pull the Pacific Blitzkrieg off his feet!

Kuroyama goes back into the mat head-first following a Double Underhook Brainbuster! On the apron, Rezin ecstatically bounces off the second rope and rallies the Miami Faithful! Across the ring, a look of concern crosses the face of the former FIST.

Harmen rolls off of Kerry's chest and grabs his head in shock and frustration, but referee Brian Slater holds up the two fingers to confirm the count. Undeterred, Jack pulls Kuroyama back off the mat and wraps his head into a three-quarter facelock before running to the turnbuckle...

But Kerry slips out and SHOVES him off at the last minute, forcing Harmen's face to collide with the top turnbuckle! Seeing his opening, the Pacific Blitzkrieg dodge-rolls over to the corner of Vae Victis and slaps the outstretched hand of the former FIST!

DDK:

Troy gets the tag, and the Queen of the Ring is back in the ring and delivers a running KNEE to the head of Jack Harmen before he can regain his bearings!

Lance:

I can't help but notice that Lindsay Troy is no longer wearing her trademark confident smirk; she is all business right now. This newfangled team of "High Fidelity" has given Vae Victis more trouble than they anticipated tonight.

Rezin:

...WHAT THE HELL?! WHY ME!? What about HIM?!

Kerry Kuroyama:

GRRR REZIN YOU SON OF A--

The brief distraction is all Lindsay Troy needs to free an arm, fall back, and drop an elbow across the throat of the Goat Bastard, effectively breaking the hold! She walks over to where Rezin and Kerry are slowly recovering, giving the former a swift kick to the hind quarters that sends him tumbling through the ropes to the floor!

Kuroyama looks up to see Troy extending her hand to help him up. He accepts it and returns to his feet. Brian Slater stands between the victors and holds their arms up in triumph.

Kerry Kuroyama played his part in the match as well, and I'd say in the eyes of LT, he's earned his place in the group here tonight. It shouldn't go without mention also, this alliance between Rezin and Jack Harmen was everything it was hyped up to be!

DDK:

I'll agree with you there. The Lunatic and the Escape Artist were absolutely STUPENDOUS tonight, and I hope this isn't the last we see of the newly christened "High Fidelity!" But the poise and posterity put on by the team of Troy and Kuroyama proved to be too much for their combined craziness!

Troy and Kuroyama exit the ring and walk side-by-side up the ramp. In the ring, Harmen is starting to come-to while Rezin slides back under the ropes to check on him. The Goat Bastard puts his hand on the shoulder of the Lunatic, but his eyes are glaring angrily at the backs of Vae Victis.

WE ARE

An image with borders of a Polaroid style frame of two young boys— possibly brothers aged between 8 to 10-years old— materializes from the abrupt transition after the previous commercial break. There's a loud "WE ARE!" chant heard that's been superimposed into the background of the aforementioned picture. It's sudden. It's jarring. It's LOUD.

The Polaroid picture shows both boys with a head of blonde hair. One has a headlock on the other and a smile on them both.

"WE ARE!"

The loud chant snaps our attention to the next picture that slides into focus. This one shows the two boys around the same age, wearing amateur wrestling outfits complete with Under Armour headgear. Clearly, it's a Youth Wrestling tournament with about a hundred parents watching on from the stands. Signs for E.P.E., Easterly Park Elementary, are littered throughout a gymnasium full of parents cheering on their sons and daughters.

The focus, for only a moment, is on one of the young boys we saw previously. In a short video clip with the same "Polaroid" borders we saw in the picture, he goes for a double-leg takedown on another young boy of equal size. Our boy in question is successful in his attempt and the other boy crashes to the ground in a heap.

We flash to a short video clip of another kid, presumably the other brother seen in the previous picture. He goes for a single-leg takedown on another equally sized boy and is as successful as his presumed brother was.

"WE ARE!"

Flash to another still picture of the two boys. This time they're in their teens, and their manes of hair are a lot longer and much more profound. Each of them sports a Letterman jacket and they are about 14 to 16 years old. Holding each other's shoulders with one arm and holding out a fist in a "cool" pose with one another, a much older man stands behind them. He's as proud as a Papa, and holds trophies in his arms with first place medals in each of his arms.

We switch to another short clip of one of the two adolescents, wearing similar amateur wrestling gear as before. He goes in for a takedown but shoots behind his opponent and takes him to the thin gymnasium mat harshly on the back of his neck. Floating over, he criss-crosses a leg on the kid's arm, trapping him as he stretches out his leg. It's not long before the referee calls for the point.

As expected, we flash to a second video of the other teenager. Holding his opponent by the waist, the second long-haired brother drives him forward unexpectedly, landing on top of his opponent. Turning to his back, the young man waits for his moment. Just as expected, the opponent swings a leg up, trying to escape, but is caught immediately. Neutralizing him from a normally disadvantageous position, the young but strong brother still manages to get both of his opponent's shoulders down and the referee calls for the defensive pin.

"WE ARE!"

Flash to a third still picture of the two boys— who have grown into big strong men. Both are in a hunched position next to one another, gilded in gold from medals galore along with three "Division I Champions" trophies underneath them. A whole team of amateur wrestlers stand behind them. Some flexing. Some posing. All showing their support for these two brothers.

Flashes from video clips happen in rapid succession.

One brother lifts an opponent up and smashes him to the mat with a brutal forward-facing front slam.

The other brother also lifts an opponent up with a waist-lock and deadlifts him to the mat with a German suplex.

The first brother flips forward with both arms tucked underneath his own, trapping him indubitably.

The same brother who German suplexed his opponent, traps his opponent in a side-mount, burying his face into the mat as he awaits the slam of the referee's hand to signify the pin.

HE IS WHO SCROW THINK'S HE IS!

We go backstage where Christie Zane is standing by with the Southern Heritage Champion Scrow and Minerva Hive. The champ has his venom-style leather jacket, and his wrestling gear is lime green with black birds on the sides of his trunks, and on the shin pads of his footwear. He has a transparent rimmed green lens monocle over his right eye, with his hair slicked behind his head. The Soher over his left shoulder. Minerva is pretty much in the same color scheme as Scrow, Unlike Scrow though she has a green corset, with black leather pants and boots. Her hair braided behind her head with a pair of shades on.

Christie Zane:

In just a few moments, you Scrow will have to step into that ring and face "The Kraken" Henry Keyes, what do you have to say before your title defense?

Scrow:

Only that Scrow's entourage has set up the afterparty, so after The greatest, Southern Heritage Champion goes out there and once more bitch slaps another Favoured Saints Champion. Scrow is going to indulge himself in a little bit of the bubbly, and have a happy ever after sort of night if you know what he means.

Christie seems a bit disgusted by that remark, Hive on the other hand has her arms crossed staring at Scrow, she pulls Christie's hand with the stick over to her lips.

Minerva Hive:

Do you think just because you sent a message to Henry at DEFTV 172, that this is still in the bag? Scrow we beg of you to stop taking this match lightly. Keyes is a formidable opponent.

Scrow grabs Christie's hand a slight grunt is heard from her while he pulls the mic back to his mouth.

Scrow:

You know what Scrow has a thought Hive. Since your SOOOO into Henry Keyes, why don't you be his valet? Hell go joined Vae Victus, Scrow hears they are down a member maybe you can fill the spot.

Christie again gets her hand grabbed from Hive and pulled to her mouth.

Minerva Hive:

Are you trying to burn your last bridge?

Scrow off-mic.

Scrow:

Not burn it blow that son of a bitch up!

Minerva Hive:

You are the biggest self-centered egomaniacal bastard we have ever seen.

Christie tries to bud in.

Christie Zane:

Do you really believe your own hype that much?

Shouting toward Christie.

Scrow:

SCROW IS THE HYPE!

Her eyes quickly widen with a bit of a step back, as she tries to collect herself.

Christie Zane:

Look you two obviously...

Scrow:

Shut up, Kristen!

With an annoyed look on her face, she replies.

Christie Zane:

It's Christie!

Scrow just stares at her, then looks back at Hive.

Scrow:

He said it on DEFRADIO, he said it in that museum. Scrow is the best damn professional wrestler in this company PERIOD! He does not need ANYONE!

Scrow's attention is taken from Hive as he notices someone walking from off-camera. A few steps into view is Ravanna, Crimson Lord's assistant, and Reaper the Grey, Lord's muscle.

Ravanna:

Anyone huh?

She looks at Hive.

Ravanna:

Mis Hive your services are required by Mr. Lord.

Scrow:

Wait a minute here, she is with Scrow!

Ravanna:

No, Scrow she is with The Kabal, you decided to go solo. So since you want to take it upon yourself to leave The Kabal then Mis Hive's services are no longer at your disposal.

Scrow:

Now, wait jus...

Before he can get his train of thought out Reaper the Grey steps in front of the two ladies with his arms crossed.

Minerva Hive:

....

Ravanna:

Let's go, Ms. Hive.

Christie tries to catch a word with Ravanna.

Christie Zane:

Ravanna...Ravanna do you mind if I ask a question?

Everyone just gives Christie a glare, she mutters through, though.

Christie Zane:

Tyler Fuse mention at DEFTV 169 that The Kabal was dead, yet you four seem to think it's not. So is it dead or alive?

Ravanna:

Ms. Zane, Tyler Fuse is not one of the leaders of The Kabal, his house may be in disorder, but I can assure you The House of The Harvest is very much alive.

Christie seems even more confused, she thinks to herself "There are houses in The Kabal...WHAT!?" All the while as Christie ponders what Ravanna said to her, Hive realizes she has no choice takes a deep breath, and looks at Scrow one last time before walking off camera with Ravanna.

Scrow:

Wait...Minerva! Scrow didn't mean it...

Reaper the Grey:

Over the last few months, Henry Keyes has metaphorically killed his past: Conor Fuse, Rezin, LDO, and Alvaro de Vargas...this man went through war after war after WAR, every week, to get here as our Favoured Saints Champion. At this point, it's hard to picture a world where Henry Keyes gives even an inch.

Lance:

And let's not forget - as much as Henry and Vae Victis are capable of mind games, it seems very clear that Scrow doesn't have these games on his radar at all. An unencumbered mind can be a dangerous mind, and Scrow has clearly shown that he is not sweating his opponent here tonight!

DDK:

Indeed, but as much as we fawn over Henry's striking, he's very adept at escaping these submission predicaments...let's see if he can solve this maneuver here.

Keyes has managed to take a lot of the pressure off the crossface by tucking his knees toward his stomach. It is taking a ton of energy out of him as is, but he managed to force Scrow to change from a crossface right into a side headlock as they come to a vertical base. As the referee begins counting, Scrow is cringing in pain as he holds his lower back.

Lance:

FISTED

The match graphic shows the main event of MAXIMUM DEFIANCE... a stoic looking Deacon, FIST over his shoulder and an overly confident, almost oozing with arrogance, Malak Garland as the challenger. Conor Fuse stands between them, which is likely the reason why Garland looks so righteous. Fuse, as the guest enforcer, seems frustrated. The crowd comes alive at the sight of the match graphic.

DDK:

So it's come to this.

Lance:

I have my resignation ready if Malak Garland walks out of this event with the FIST in hand.

DDK:

I won't be far behind you.

Lance:

But there is hope. Obviously Deacon is miles better than Malak when compared to in-ring talent... and as Conor Fuse said yesterday, he plans to just sit back and make sure nothing "funny" happens. You have to believe the guy.

DDK:

I do. I just don't trust Malak.

Lance:

Nobody does.

DDK:

Folks, let's take a deeper look at this main event...

The match graphic disappears and MAXIMUM DEFIANCE goes into a video package. The scene first shows Conor Fuse climbing the ladder to retrieve the ACE of DEFIANCE, only for Malak Garland to nudge the ladder and the ACE falls through Conor's hands, landing on the mat... where Malak Garland crawls over to recover it like a fumble in football.

The scene changes to Conor Fuse sitting in an unknown location, staring into the camera.

Conor Fuse:

This was my fault.

His interview is intercut with footage about what Conor's speaking on.

Conor Fuse:

I'm not even speaking about the ACE, I'm talking about joining The Comments Section, being Malak's lackey. Honestly, this full circle issue with The Deacon, that's my fault, too. I made a name for myself two years ago when I asked The Game Boy to wreck Deacon so I could pick up a victory against him.

Conor huffs.

Conor Fuse:

I hear the comments. People think there's MOAR to this relationship now... the relationship between Malak and I. I can assure you, there's not.

Conor shakes his head.

Conor Fuse:

There's little, if anything there. Just like my relationship with The Deacon.

The scene switches to a similar interview location where Malak Garland is seated. He's not alone. To his right is Percy Collins, his personal sports psychologist and to his left is Thurston Hunter, his worst dumbass lackey.

Malak Garland:

Hello? Hello? Are we rolling?

Garland looks to his right.

Malak Garland:

My FOMO is through the roof right now and I have another appointment I need to get to.

Although he's serious, once Collins reaches out and starts rubbing his back, Garland sneers into the camera.

Malak Garland:

Mark my words, my anxiety won't be sky high in Miami because I'm gonna get FISTED.

The scene switches to Deacon and Magdalena seated in a similar environment from a previously recorded separate interview. Magdalena is mid-sentence, attempting to answer a question.

Magdalena:

Do we trust Conor Fuse? C'mon, what a silly question. We've been through this. Because of Conor, Deacon was brutally attacked by The Game Boy not once... but twice. Not just "two years ago". Try a few weeks ago, too. We don't trust him.

Deacon shakes his head no as the interview switches to Conor Fuse.

Conor Fuse:

Is this what wrestling is about now? We never forgive, never forget? Huh? Because I've lived wrestling my entire life. You see Masked Violator 1 and 2 used to be best buds and now they're bitter rivals. I'm pretty sure we fast-forward to a couple years from now, they'll be best buds again. Lindsay Troy? That woman's gone through MOAR friendships and also mended MOAR fences than Jack Harmen. Like seriously, Mags. I said I'm going to make sure everything goes smoothly.

Scene switches to Malak, who's in mid-sentence himself... but off on his own tangent, having nothing to do with the topic at hand.

Malak Garland:

The word MAXIMUM, however, is triggering to me. It indicates constantly working at full capacity and I feel like I simply cannot sustain such a demand for a long period of time.

Garland glances at Percy Collins and then cuddles himself with a FOMO self-hug.

Malak Garland:

Right. I got cOnOr watching my back.

The scene switches to Magdalena and Deacon.

Magdalena:

Deacon never asked to be placed in this position. Being the FIST of DEFIANCE is one of the highest statuses any wrestler can achieve. Deacon's been around the block, former fWo World Champion. He's seen everything. We... he... will be ready for what's going to come. If it's two-on-one, fine. If it's one-on-one, fine. It's going to be the same outcome regardless because Malak has no skills and will be easy to take apart when the real bell sounds.

Back to Malak Garland and co.

Malak Garland:

Listen, all I want is to be the FIST World Heavyweight Champion. I don't care about any previous accolades of Sub-Zero. He was fWo Champion? Cool, no one cares about that indie fed from the late 90s. What's a Travis Beaven? I bet the Boston Strangler is from Las Vegas. Flying Frenchie is a fake moniker. He's probably some Dutch guy named Kevin or something. Scott Slugger plays baseball? Baseball is boring.

Garland stops to collect himself.

Malak Garland:

But when I manage to beat Deacon, they might as well crown me fWo Champ, too.

The Miami Faithful boo profusely at Malak's butchering of the historical company.

Malak Garland:

Is that too much to ask? Because I don't think it is. DEFIANCE has an emo for a SOHER and has two drunks for its Tag Team Champions. Why is it such a big deal that someone like me, who actually IS DEFIANT, by literal definition, becomes the main representative of this "organization"? Huh?

Garland looks to his right and then his left.

Malak Garland:

Like, can anyone tell me why I can't? Because I'm gonna be after Thursday.

The feed switches to Conor's pre-recorded interview.

Conor Fuse:

Honestly, I've said everything. We can talk forever. We can build hype nonstop. Everyone's gonna find out what I'm all about very shortly. Then hopefully we can move onto a new level, a new game, a new world.

Fuse seems rattled at his last statement.

Conor Fuse:

I mean the same world, with Malak Garland NOT the FIST of DEFIANCE.

Back to the interview from Magdalena and Deacon. Even though these were clearly recorded at separate times, it's clear the interviewer and editors tried to keep everything on the same track.

Magdalena:

Yeah, we will see what everyone is about. And that's Deacon still at the top of DEFIANCE's mountain. Last stop before the Hall of Fame.

Back to Malak, who's now in a warm embrace from both Percy and Thurston.

Malak Garland:

Can't wait to get the ultimate shiny shiny. I can feel my previous trauma withering away.

And the feed returns to Conor Fuse who looks past the camera and towards whomever is interviewing him.

Conor Fuse:

You think this is all about Malak? You think this is all about Deacon? Let me be clear, I got myself into this mess. I WILL get myself out of it. It won't come at the expense of anyone... other than myself.

Scene switch: Garland still coddling with his cronies.

Scene switch: Deacon and Magdalena looking confidently into the camera.

And back to Conor Fuse.

Conor Fuse:

I am going to keep the integrity of this match. That's what Conor Fuse is about come MAXIMUM DEFIANCE. If Malak IS going to become the FIST, he's gonna earn it. And if Deacon is the legend he thinks he is, then he's gonna power through whatever might happen on the outside of the ring and instead, Deac's gonna worry about what's going on inside of it. Garland is dressed like he's a prizefighting boxer, silk robe included. He widens his arms Teresa Ames looms behind him, holding up the vaunted Paper Championship belt briefly before vanishing to the back.

Lance:

Does Malak think he's got a puncher's chance? See what I did there?

Garland is anything but rattled. ALEX P. and MEE6 walk out to his right and Percy Collins and Thurston Hunter are to his left. The five of them stand behind Saweetie as she continues to rap his theme song. Soon enough, Garland strolls up to the musician. He snatches the basketball from her hands and dribbles poorly around the top of the stage until he loses the ball and then punts it into the crowd. Garland giggles. He turns to his cronies and they all walk down the rampway, completely ignoring Saweetie.

Malak Garland:

I am literally the shit right now.

DDK:

This might be the most confident we've ever seen Malak.

Lance:

Oh, it is. Typically, someone like Deacon would provide way too much anxiety for a guy like him to work through.

DDK:

Careful, you might get in trouble for saying this.

Lance:

I only mean Malak Garland. We all know he hides behind a lot and his actions aren't related to someone with serious anxiety- you know what? You're right, I'll stop.

Garland arrives at the bottom of the rampway. He raises his hands and snow starts falling from the rafters. Garland bumps and grinds around to the rap song. He looks at Percy Collins.

Malak Garland:

Where's my basketball? Go fetch it.

Collins nods excitedly.

Percy Collins:

Yes sir, Mal!

And off the personal therapist goes. Collins struggles to climb over the guardrail before wandering into the crowd. Meanwhile, Thurston Hunter screams at a few front row fans, telling them he can't wait to "street fight" The Deacon as the snow continues to fall. The scene switches to Conor Fuse, who stands in the middle of the ring, clearly unimpressed.

Conor Fuse: [mouthing]

Kill me.

As Saweetie keeps rapping, Garland strolls up the steel steps. ALEX P. and MEE6 jump onto the apron and open the top and middle rope for Malak. At first, Garland's reluctant to step through. He surveys the space between the ropes and asks ALEX P. and MEE6 to pull the ropes apart further or else he's worried he may slip and fall and his perfect entrance would be ruined. The crowd is all over this. At times it's tough to hear Saweetie go through her uncensored song but Garland, eventually, makes it into the ring safely much to the painful response of Conor Fuse. The Keyboard King continues to bounce around to the theme song like an offbeat, unrhythmic, oversensitive clown would. Fuse wanders to a corner in order to stay out of their way.

DDK:

Can we get this over with already?

Collins has come back to ringside with the basketball in hand. He slides into the ring and makes a poor bounce pass to Garland. The challenger takes the basketball, dribbles it once and then points at Saweetie while she finishes his theme song. Garland bounces the ball again and then punts it into the crowd, much further this time. The Source of Envy leans on ALEX P. and MEE6, laughing hysterically at the thought of the basketball going through the crowd and likely hitting someone who's booing. Finally, Malak turns to acknowledge Conor Fuse.

Malak Garland:

Oh me, oh my. Didn't see you there, cOnOr.

Garland dance-thrusts his way over to The Ultimate Gamer and then starts shaking his ass in front of Conor. The Video Game Kid looks like he's about to puke.

Mercifully, Saweetie finishes the song and heads to the back. Darren Quimbey retakes the center of the ring.

Malak Garland: [to Conor Fuse]

Would you do me the honors and take my robe off? Please?

Conor pays no mind to the request as heat builds within the crowd. Noticing he's not getting his way, Malak peers over his shoulder and asks again.

Malak Garland:

Take my robe off, cOnOr. I need my robe off in order to perform in the ring.

Fuse still doesn't budge. By now, it's been a few good moments since the theme music died down and Saweetie has made her highly paid exit. Malak chooses not to budge, either.

Malak Garland:

I said, TAKE. MY. ROBE. OFF. NOW. Need I remind you that I own you? I OWN YOU! DO AS I SAY! In fact, do everything as I say tonight and you're home free.

Malak assumes "the position" as cOnOr reluctantly begins to reach for the back collar of the robe as the fans warn him to stop. Malak closes his eyes and tilts his head back, flourishing in the moment.

Malak Garland:

Do it, oh please, for the sake of baby kittens everywhere, disrobe me, cOnOr. Unleash me for this all important wrestling match.

He can't. He won't. Fuse retracts his arm and minds his business in his corner. The fans IGNITE. Before Malak can notice or retort, ALEX P. and MEE6 hastily jump in and disrobe the snowy one. Malak relocates to a vacant corner, all the while eyeing down Conor Fuse as things finally move on.

Darren Quimbey:

And his opponent... from Alexandria, Egypt... weighing three-hundred-twenty pounds... he is THE FIST OF DEFIANCE... HE IS... THE DEACON!!

♪ "Gregorian Chant" by some Gregorian monks (duh) ♪

The lights go out, only the snowy LED landscape that is the ramp to the ring. Two spotlights shine from the top of each line of the "X" in "Maximum", the only letter currently visible. Where the two beams cross, Magdalena stands on a small, gleaming, metal platform.

Challenges come in all forms.

The platform starts to descend toward the "X". Lightning slashes from the X outward, shimmers of lighting dancing across the MAXIMUM lettering. A larger than life silhouette of a robed man stands in front of the snow-covered "I" palm tree, their arms outstretched in the crucifix form.

Magdalena:

Each challenge coming in what they perceive as their power.

Like something out of a video game, a dragon image soars across the MAXIMUM letters. With a roar, a fireball explodes from the dragon's snout and into the silhouette, hitting one outstretched arm, then spreading, like through a kindled forest.

Each challenge, like a dragon hunting its prey, toying with its target, whether that quarry be a woman [Magdalena gestures], a child, or something more.

Conor eyes both teams while he talks and the apron mic picks it up.

Conor Fuse:

Thurston Hunter tries to trip Deacon but he's only able to slow the big man down. Deacon comes crashing down with a semi-measured knee drop but Garland rolls out of the way at the last second!

Magdalena screams at Conor Fuse and Mark Shields for missing the Thurston trip. Conor says he didn't see anything and that the match is still heavily in Deacon's side. While Garland escaped the knee drop, the challenger is nowhere near able to do much else.

Malak rolls to the edge of the ring, the same side where his teammates are. Deacon gets to his feet, although it looks like he did tweak his knee upon landing. Deacon marches over to Garland...

And Garland falls out of the ring.

Conor Fuse slowly walks around to The Comments Section's side of the apron. He warns everyone to stay away from Malak Garland. Fuse tells them not to touch their leader or else he will boot everyone to the back.

Jeers reign down as both men recover on the outside. A replay of Deacon's plancha shows Malak Garland actually fell to the mat BEFORE Deacon crashed through everyone, so he likely took on minimal, if any, damage!

A second replay showed that while the standoff happened between Deacon and Game Boy, Malak Garland pulled himself together and then delivered the wicked knee strike to Deacon's temple.

Lance:

We knew Malak Garland can't hang with The Deacon physically. We knew that. Everyone does. When his head is turned off, that is. When the chips are actually down. We've seen it before. I hate myself for saying this but Malak can hang in there and find an opening.

With all of his might, Garland pushes Deacon into the apron. The challenger leans into the champion with his head and arms, sending Deacon under the ropes and into the ring. Another replay of I Trigger is fed into the broadcast.

DDK:

A rush of anxiety sweeps over Malak Garland. From 0 to 100 he goes from overly confident to an absolute trainwreck. He feels Deacon move from under him as if he was standing on a landmine about to detonate... and then he lets go of the camel clutch.

Garland backs into the ropes. Like something out of a horror movie, he sees the big man rise and methodically turn to where The Mega Troll is located.

Malak Garland:

Percy Collins:

Mark looks up at Collins and Hunter with a weird look in his eyes. Then his demeanor changes on a dime and he starts nodding along.

Mark Shields:

Deacon stands from the pinfall attempt and grabs Hunter and Collins by the neck. ALEX P. and MEE6 slide into the ring next and try pulling their friends away before Deacon can do any damage. This sends Magdalena into the ring as well. She's shouting at everyone to GTFO.

Next up is The Game Boy. He stoically steps over the top rope and once Deacon sees Game Boy has entered the ring, he lets go of the other cronies. Collins and Hunter gasp for air as they fall to their knees.

Finally, Conor Fuse jumps onto the apron and slingshots himself over the top rope. He pushes ALEX P. and MEE6. He gets right into The Game Boy's face before Magdalena takes Conor by the shoulder and swings him around so she's face-to-face with him (well, sorta... she's still a lot shorter).

Magdalena:

Collins and Hunter find a second wind.

Percy Collins:

Thurston Hunter:

Yeah! We didn't interfere! We didn't interfere!

The Comments Section continues to repeat the same words over and over again. Conor is growing impatient.

Thurston Hunter:

Let us stay! Let us stay!

Percy Collins:

Don't you want your frEEdOms!? FREEDOMS!!!

Fuse pushes Hunter. He turns and shoves Percy Collins.

Conor Fuse:

All of you. Every single one of you... GET THE FUCK OUT!

Conor ejects them like a baseball umpire. The crowd goes wild!

DDK:

As it should be! About time!

Game Boy stands in front of Deacon but Conor Fuse is at his limit. Conor finds a space in-between both of them and pushes each man back. The Ultimate Gamer gets right into Game Boy's luchador mask.

Conor Fuse:

That means you too. GTFO, dude. Or I call this match in Deacon's favour.

The usually stoic Game Boy's body language changes ever-so-slightly, which may suggest he's furious himself. Game Boy gives Deacon one more look over before exiting the ring with the rest of The Comments Section.

Fuse turns to Magdalena.

Conor Fuse:

You too, Mags.

She's beside herself.

Conor Fuse:

I said you too, Mags! This ends with NOBODY else at ringside!

Thurston Hunter shouts from the rampway.

Thurston Hunter:

Yeah, you too, Mags! Little bruising bitch cakes. Haha.

Magdalena rapidly taps her foot before she scoffs at Conor Fuse and exits the ring. Meanwhile Deacon goes back to pummeling Malak Garland.

As Magdalena walks up the rampway, Thurston Hunter decides to be brave (or stupid, depending on how you look at it). He detaches himself from the rest of his group and walks back to ringside, at the bottom of the rampway where Magdalena has just begun to make her way up.

Thurston Hunter:

Yeah, you too, Mags! Bahahahahah! Get street foughted, whore! I'm so original with my slander! Early to the showers with ya! Maybe you will actually clean all the religion off you for once!

Thurston pulls out the mangled bible they destroyed on the last DEFtv and waves it in her face mockingly. Magdalena isn't putting up with any of this shit. She cracks Hunter across the jaw HARD and he goes down like a sack of potatoes. The crowd erupts at the spot.

DDK:

Damn right!

Hunter is legitimately out cold on the floor as ALEX P. and MEE6 see the hard blow from Magdalena. They remain stopped in their tracks, presumably with soiled underpants. (The Game Boy is gone, he's already vanished backstage.)

Percy Collins decides to walk right into Magdalena's face next.

DDK:

Percy is as stupid as he looks.

Collins, however, ducks a right hand from Magdalena and then attempts to reach out and grab her-

WHAM!

The crowd cheers as Conor Fuse comes racing across the ramp and nails Collins with a spear. Fuse pops to his feet and superkicks the boots right out of ALEX P. and MEE6. Conor takes both the statistician ALEX P. and the BOT Martin Evans-Everett the sixth and walks them all the way up the ramp. He drops MEE6 in the middle of the stage and drags ALEX P. to the left side of the ramp...

BOOM!

Conor tosses ALEX P. straight into the palm tree snowfall set.

The Power-Up King matches back to the middle of the ramp. He snatches MEE6 and continues to the right side of the stage.

BOOM!

And hurls MEE6 through the other palm tree snowfall set.

Conor Fuse:

I hate snow themed levels.

Fuse dusts his hands off. He walks to the center of the stage and is met once again by Magdalena.

Magdalena:

I had them. I didn't need your help...

Already on edge, Conor doesn't back down and the two of them start mouthing off against each other once again. Back to the ring, Deacon's destroying Malak Garland. Deac hurls Garland into the ropes and comes charging through with a crossbody block. It looks like the end of Malak is coming as Deacon calls for one more Altar Call. Garland is hooked high in the air... he's trying his best to break free and happens to kick Mark Shields inadvertently in the side of the head!

Shields falls over and rubs his face while Malak escapes the move! The Snowflake hits the ropes-

WHAM!

And Deacon whacks Malak out of thin air with a heavy headbutt!

On the rampway, everyone has been helped to the medical room by DEFSec... everyone other than Magdalena and Conor Fuse. They continue to jawjack at one another.

DDK:

There is serious mistrust between these two.

Inside the ring, Deacon looks down at Mark Shields. Shields shows signs of life and says he should be okay in a moment, once he can get his eyesight back. Deacon turns to lift Malak off the mat and crushes him with another heavy headbutt. The FIST calls for the end but before anything can be done, the crowd comes alive!

Lance:

KEEBS! OH MY GOD!

A shadow wearing nothing more than camo gear slips through the crowd, hops the rail and enters the ring.

Lance:

IT'S CYRUS BATES! WHAT THE HELL!?

Deacon turns to see Search Party Cyrus but it's too late! Bates stands there, seething at the mouth as the fans look on with breathless expressions on their faces. Bates hits Deacon with a boot to the head... lifts the champion up...

...And plants him in the center of the ring with a devastating uranage!

DDK:

This is bullshit! I've had enough of this nonsense!

Bates looks to his left, right, center... and then pussyfoots out of the ring and back through the crowd to which he came, driving the Faithful crazy in boos!

DDK:

We've seen this act a bunch of times by now! Cyrus Bates says he's terrified of uranages after receiving one from Mushigihara last year. And yet Cyrus vanishes from the face of the earth only to show up randomly and execute the very move that haunts him!? This is such BS!

Malak stirs on the mat. It's clear he saw what took place while he was recovering. Garland slithers over to the fallen

Deacon...

DDK:

Not this way!

Conor and Magdalena didn't see a damn thing.

Lance:

Oh boy...

Everyone inside the arena is on their feet as Malak Garland is inching closer to an attempted pinfall!

Finally, Conor and Mags turn to the ring. Conor seems as confused as Deacon's manager, witnessing the champion laid out on the canvas and Malak Garland inches away from draping the arm overtop of him.

Mark Shields rubs his eyes.

Conor hears additional commotion from a spot in the crowd where Search Party Cyrus disappeared back into, but Fuse can't put it all together because there's no sign of Bates.

Conor and Mags watch on in horror as Garland puts an arm over Deacon's chest. Shields is seeing double but nonetheless, the referee slides into position to make the count.

DDK:

Please. No.

KICKOUT!

DDK:

At the very last second, there's still life in The Deacon!

Lance:

I don't have to quit my job!

Garland rolls to his side. He realizes Mark Shields is still struggling to rub his eyes out so Garland wastes little time. Although certainly hurting, Malak exits the ring and pulls back the apron. He takes a chair and reenters the ring.

Magdalena slaps Conor in the chest.

Conor Fuse:

Get to the back, right now. I'll deal with this shit.

Magdalena:

YOU BETTER.

Begrudgingly, Mags is the last one to make her exit as Conor power walks back down the rampway and towards the ring. Malak looks down at Deacon, chair in hand and he smiles.

Malak Garland:

Bless.

Garland holds the chair above Deacon's right leg. He's about to drive it into the big man's knee...

When Conor Fuse slides into the ring and takes the chair from him.

Garland turns to Fuse.

Malak Garland:

WTF, man!? Don't you want to be free!? Just let it happen!

Garland grabs the chair back from Conor's hands.

Malak Garland:

Let. It. Happen. I am inevitable.

The challenger looks down at Deacon who's starting to stir from the uranage blow. It's clear Malak doesn't have much time. Garland's demeanor changes... he looks at Conor now, as if almost pleading with him.

Malak Garland:

Let it... happen? I am inevitable?

Garland tries for a chair shot but Conor takes it away again and the crowd cheers! Malak's demeanor changes, like a snowflake at a drop of a dime, instantly triggered. The Keyboard Warrior shoves Conor who was surprised by the push and goes into the turnbuckle, dropping the chair in the process. Conor rubs his head from the whiplash as Garland realizes neither Conor nor Mark Shields are paying attention.

WHAM!

So he snatches the chair and drives it into Deacon's right knee.

Malak Garland:

Bless!

Malak with a quick peek over his shoulder at both men.

WHAM!

And does it again.

Quick peek at the ref and the guest enforcer. Does Malak have enough time to get one MOAR shot in?

WHAM!

Of course he does. This time it's a shot across Deacon's head.

DDK:

What a gutless troll!

Garland tosses the warped chair to the ground. He drops to his knees and hooks both legs.

Malak Garland: [shouting to either Mark Shields or Conor Fuse]

Okay, someone can count now. Anyone! LFGGGGG!!! FOMO!

Fuse recovers and sees the pinfall attempt. He's about to fall into position but as he does he slides past the steel chair.

The DAMAGED steel chair.

Conor grabs the chair instead. He pulls the snowflake up by his white hair.

Conor Fuse:

Did you fucking use this when I said not to!?

Garland shakes his head no.

Malak Garland:

Nope. Wasn't me. It came like that out of the box.

But Conor doesn't buy it.

Conor Fuse:

You're going to answer me HONESTLY because I am absolutely sick of your shit. Did you use this chair?

Garland doesn't bite.

Malak Garland:

Nope. You're crazy, man. We should get a refund from Amazon for that.

Fuse holds up the chair and points to the damaged seat.

Conor Fuse:

So what the hell happened?

Garland's deadpan.

Malak Garland:

Eric Dane came back and didn't want me to be the FIST of DEFIANCE - haha, so he hit me...

Fuse pushes Garland.

Conor Fuse:

Fuck off.

But once again, Malak doesn't break. He turns towards the Deacon and plans to lay more punishment in.

Malak Garland:

Can you just, like, count the pin!? I'll even say please!

Garland applies a fury of boots to Deacon while the fans boo.

Conor Fuse:

I'm going to ask you one more time...

Fuse grabs Garland by the shoulder and spins him around. This triggers the challenger...

Malak Garland:

You know what, fuck you cOnOr. I didn't use the chair. You are so accusatory! Your projections hurt me. Quit projecting on me! You didn't see me use the chair. So get bent, dipshit. Count the three and go on your merry way!

As Garland speaks, Deacon's coming to. He gets on a knee.

Fuse shakes his head. He looks down at the chair in his hands.

Malak Garland:

I hate you. I can't stand you. You're a loser. No one likes video games. No one likes you. No one uses LANs anymore. Everyone adores WIFI. You ruined DEFIANCE. You ruined HOW. You ruin everything you touch!

Deacon is up.

And Malak Garland spits right in Conor Fuse's face.

It all happens so fast. Once the spit lands on Conor's face, he runs a hand through it to make sure the incident actually took place. Conor tightens the grip on the chair... and he swings it in Malak's direction.

WHAM!!!!!!

But Garland ducks.

Deacon was standing right behind him. He eats the chair H.A.R.D.

DDK:

No...

Lance:

Holy shit.

The arena is silent. The FIST of DEFIANCE is out cold once again. And Malak Garland didn't use the chair this time.

Conor Fuse did.

It's clear Conor's rattled and this was NOT what he had intended. However, Garland giggles on the canvas floor, realizing he's still in one piece and Deacon...

Is not.

Malak Garland:

Haha, oh me, oh my. What a predicament indeed. How delectable!

The announcers are so stunned, they don't say anything. Garland falls on top of Deacon and looks at Conor Fuse like he's expecting the gamer to get down and count.

Fuse throws the chair to the mat in a rage but exits the ring. He places both hands on top of his head and paces around like the world has come to an end.

Garland grins sadistically. He sees Mark Shields has recovered.

Malak Garland:

Hey Marky Mark! cOnOr over there didn't want to count this LEGAL pinfall attempt but... maybe you can!? Can you? CAN YOU!?

Shields falls into position. Conor is having a meltdown outside the ring. It's a bit of a slow count on Mark's end, since his head is minorly spinning...

THR

EE-

MARK SHIELDS IS PULLED OUT OF THE RING BY CONOR FUSE!

The crowd cheers as Conor tears at his own hair. Fuse is having an extremely difficult time making sense of what he just did.

Conor Fuse:

Mark, I'm sorry man, but I'm gonna have to knock you out right now.

Shields nods.

Mark Shields:

Fuck man, sure thing! Whatever you need from-

Whack!

Conor decks Shields with a left hand.

Inside the ring, Malak Garland goes from 0 to 100. He's screaming at the top of his lungs while still maintaining a pin on The Deacon.

Malak Garland:

CONOR! WHAT THE HELL ARE YOU DOING!?! I NEARLY HAD THE ALL-FIST WORLD TITLE IN MY BACK POCKET!

Garland's voice is on a completely different octave. It's clear he's never faced this legitimate level of stress before, having the FIST of DEFIANCE taken right out from under him, which is ironic considering the tables were turned with the whole fumbling of the ACE.

Malak Garland:

I DIDN'T HIT DEACON WITH THE CHAIR. YOU DID. This is not MY fault! Nothing bad is ever my fault! I am a good person! I am a good wrestler! I am a CHAMPIONSHIP wrestler! Give me credibility!

Conor slides into the ring. Garland wastes no time and gets right in Conor Fuse's face.

Malak Garland: [pointing to the fallen Deacon]

I DIDN'T DO THAT.

Garland scoffs.

Malak Garland:

I. DIDN'T. HIT. DEACON. WITH. THAT. CHAIR.

This time, Conor pushes back.

Conor Fuse:

Oh, but you did.

Fuse stares at Garland until MagnumG finally cracks.

Malak Garland:

So what if I did!? Do you really want to be with me FOREVER? Because it will be FOREVER. I will make your life the biggest living fucking hell imgainable! No FOMO. No safe spaces. You think I've been hard on you before, cOnOr!? You've seen NOTHING YET!

Fuse knows he's in a tough spot and Garland can sense it. Instead of arguing with his nemesis any further, Garland props Deacon upright and smacks the champion between the shoulder blades. Garland laughs sadistically.

Malak Garland:

Weapon Get.

Malak finds the ropes, runs off them and leaps into the air.

DDK:

Head Stomp on Deacon!

The champ falls to the mat and Garland dusts off his hands, dropping to a pin position. The challenger eyes Conor.

Malak Garland:

Now you HAVE TO count.

Fuse clutches his head and starts pulling at his hair once more. The crowd shouts for Conor not to make the count but there's really nothing more he can do. The gamer checks Deacon's shoulders. Fear is heavy in Conor's eyes as he does the unthinkable...

ONE.

TWO.

SHOULDER UP!

Instant relief crosses Fuse's face as Garland's jaw drops out of his skull. It was clearly NOT a three count but the Mega Troll isn't going with this narrative. Instead, The Thirst Trapper shoots to his feet and begins throwing a temper tantrum like he's a two-year-old.

Malak Garland:

MY SHINY SHINY! I AM FIST OF DEFIANCE CHAMPION!!!

Garland pushes Fuse.

Malak Garland:

You are nothing. You're the video game loser! Why don't you get out of here!? Why do you do this to me!? I'm supposed to WIN!!!

Garland spits at Conor again, catching him square in the face for a second time. However, the crowd is slowly coming alive...

Malak Garland:

I will get you to do household chores in a degrading maid's costume the likes of Christie Zane should wear. You will become my hydration technician! Shine my shoes. Clip my nails. Give me a sponge bath? Dude, I'm The King of Trolls. I have no limit!

The fans are cheering louder.

Malak Garland:

I'll pull your DEFIANCE contract. I'll fire you from PRIME even before you begin to work there. I'll put you on ICE. No one will remember your shit sipping face by next year!

The arena is rocking!

Malak Garland:

RIP Conor Fuse. No continues. No extra lives. Not even 'start from the beginning'. No game. No console. Perma death. FUCK YOU.

Conor cracks a smile.

Conor Fuse:

Na, man. Fuck you.

Garland spits on Fuse for a third time. But Conor isn't phased.

Conor Fuse:

Turn around.

Garland doesn't have to. He feels what's breathing down his neck.

The Deacon.

Shit.

As Deacon stirred, the crowd stirred. Now fully recovered, Deacon grabs Garland by the throat and hits a wildly high chokeslam! Deacon shoots off the ropes and nearly spins Malak's head right off the snowflake's shoulders with a massive running big boot! Miami goes ballistic and Deacon positions the challenger for the Altar Call. Before The Mute Freak hits the finisher, the champion looks dead into Conor Fuse's eyes.

WHAM!

DDK:

Altar Call!

Conor drops to his knees and makes the count while the entire arena counts along.
